THE 1957 Techite

This year we have remodeled Tech, painted and repaired it, added and changed equipment and furnishings. But all the while we have known that a school is more than just a building. We are McKinley, too. Here, our own future is in the making.

ARCHITECTS OF THE FUTURE

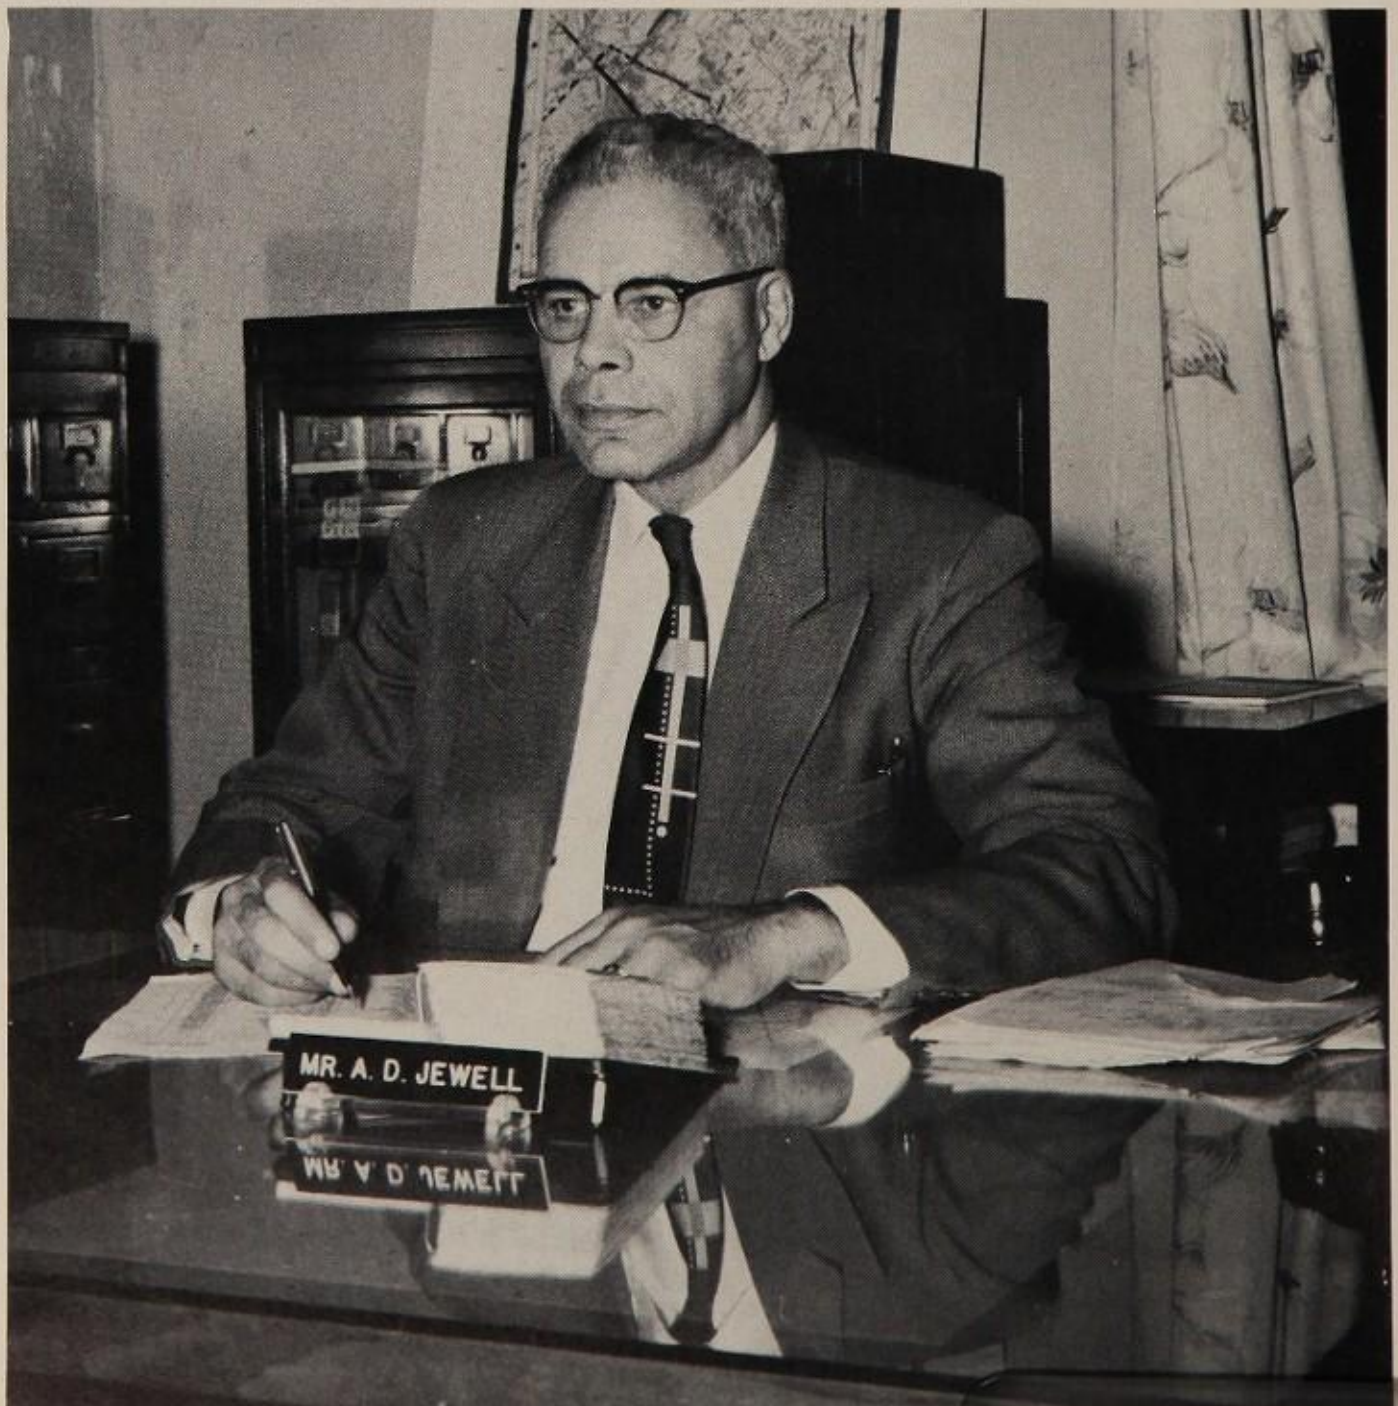

Dr. Bish, Dr. Weinstein, and Mr. Jewell study the plans of our new building construction. They must very carefully consider many details. But in a larger sense these leaders and the faculty are architects of our future by their constant efforts to help us plan and build our lives. They have helped us to design our course to knowledge and to develop our skills and talents upon a firm foundation of habits and attitudes. They have prepared us for the responsibilities we will face in the future.

As we add new bricks and mortar, new lights and chairs and desks, new laboratory equipment and new facilities; as we change and reconstruct and improve our school physically; as we give it the "new look," we look inward into ourselves and reconstruct and build our talents, our abilities, our characters, our potential for the future. As the school grows, we shall grow with it--and the goal of both shall be an even greater credit to the community in the future than it has been in the past.

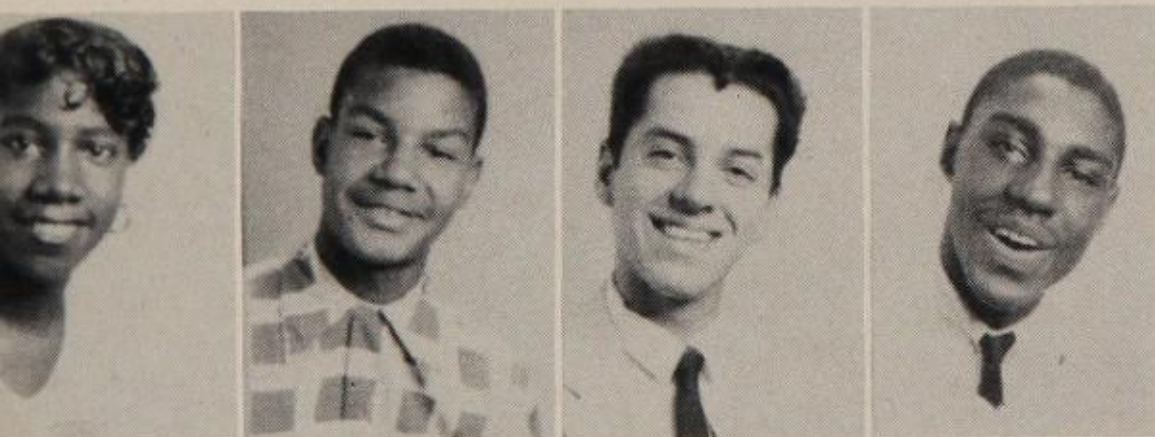

C LASSES

Our chemistry laboratory, always one of the finest, was improved this year as part of the major remodeling of the building.

A black and white photograph of a large, multi-story building, likely a school or university building. The building features a prominent tower on the left side with a small cupola. The architecture is classical, with many windows and a solid facade. In the foreground, there are several large, bare trees with intricate branch structures, suggesting a late autumn or winter setting. The ground appears to be a lawn or a path. The overall tone is somewhat somber due to the monochrome palette and the bare trees.

Here at Tech, there is not only an opportunity to broaden our store of knowledge out of books and classroom instruction; but there is also the chance to widen our talents, deepen our social interests, and expand our abilities through extracurricular activities. We learn to develop our personalities and to build satisfactory relationships between ourselves and members of our present school community. This not only gives us personal satisfaction but helps us to become a greater service in a larger community. These activities are still another part of our future in the making.

A black and white photograph of a large, multi-story brick building, likely a school or institutional structure. The building features a prominent corner tower with a small cupola on top. The facade is made of brick with white mortar joints, and there are many windows of various sizes. A large, leafless tree stands in the foreground, its branches spreading across the upper right portion of the image. The ground in front of the building appears to be a lawn or courtyard. The overall tone is historical and somewhat somber due to the lack of foliage on the tree.

A team is made of bodies and minds. The members must develop their muscles; but every good coach knows that they must also develop good habits of mind: quick thinking, accuracy, sportsmanship, and the will to win. The coach's plans must include the development of teamwork, for a team (like building) is more than its separate parts.

The season started on a high note for the Trainers this year with an impressive win over favored Dunbar, 13-7.

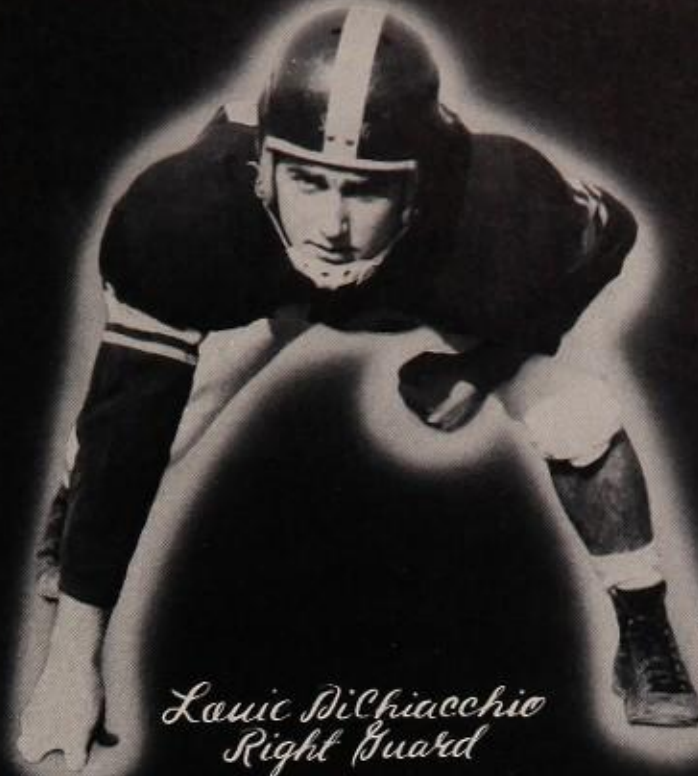

The following week the Trainers ran their winning streak to two by beating Armstrong before losing 13 - 0 to a strong Spingarn eleven.

Southern of Baltimore was the helpless victim of a "Fired Up" Tech Squad as they came from behind to win 20-18.

Chamberlain was the fourth to be vanquished by the Tech men 38 - 8 as the Trainers made ready for the annual meeting with the "boys across the river."

On a cold rainy afternoon Tech journeyed to Anacostia with all feeling a possible upset in the making. However, it was the Trainers who were "scalped" 20 - 7 and came home a little battle weary.

In the final two games of the season the Trainers split. They beat Phelps 20 - 7 and lost the final game to Eastern 21 - 0.

The season as a whole was quite bright with an over all record of 5 wins and 3 loses. A fine season.

BASKETBALL

An untried though not unskilled Tech Five waded through a long season taking their bumps as they went and giving a few in return.

After a slow start, the Trainers came on to win a place in the championship tournament by edging out Eastern. However, Tech wasn't destined to win the final competition. We were stopped by Cardozo, in return for the upset we gave them last year. A team to be proud of played hard all season and thrilled us in many close games.
